

I am totally in favor of RM-10867 through RB-10879 as proposed by ARRL. I think that this change would greatly promote amateur radio and eliminate a barrier that keeps people from getting into it. Many existing HAMS would also benefit from this as well. If people want to do CW, they can learn it on their own and then use it when they feel they are ready or an endorsement requirement can be added to the regulations for CW. I think that the sooner this is implimented the better.
